Anderson, Fields, Floyd, Pierzynski, Thome and Wise to provide Chicago-area children with an unforgettable day at the ballpark

Chicago, Illinois., Tuesday July 7th, 2009 — Prior to today's game at US Cellular Field in Chicago, White Sox players Brian Anderson, Josh Fields, Gavin Floyd, AJ Pierzynski, Jim Thome, and Dewayne Wise will provide everlasting memories to a group of children from the Immaculate Heart of Mary Youth mentoring program located in Chicago, as the Major League Baseball Players Trust's "Buses for Baseball" program motors into Illinois.

Courtesy of the players' charitable foundation, the children will receive round-trip transportation to the game, meet the players, and receive free tickets, food, beverages and souvenirs. "Buses for Baseball" will provide many of the children with their first chance to attend a Major League Baseball game.

This season, "Buses for Baseball," a program administered by the Players Trust and underwritten by Majestic Athletic, a division of VF Imagewear, Inc., will provide transportation and personal greetings for more than 1,500 underprivileged children attending Major League Baseball games as invited guests of their big league heroes.

The Players Trust enjoys support from the Chicago White Sox organization and First Student Transportation in providing this unique, up close and personal opportunity to share the thrill of Major League Baseball with those less fortunate.

About the Major League Baseball Players Trust

The members of the Major League Baseball Players Association created the Players Trust, a 501(c)(3) charitable foundation, to provide resources of caring to those in need by volunteering in causes close to their hearts and encouraging others to do the same. The foundation became the first of its kind in professional sports established and administered by the players. For additional information, please visit www.MLBPLAYERS.com.
